

KNS | KRYSTOPHER SCOTT

SPEAKER · ADVISOR

Krystopher Nasir Scott

Cultural Economist & Place Strategist

Krystopher Nasir Scott is a cultural economist, place strategist, and founder whose work explores the relationship between cultural value, economic development, and institutional ownership. His speaking engagements connect research, entrepreneurship, and practical experience to the questions shaping the future of cities and communities.

SPEAKING TOPICS

01

Culture Is Infrastructure

Why cultural activity is an economic asset and how cities should account for its value.

02

Who Owns the City?

How capital, ownership, and institutions determine who captures the economic value of urban development.

03

The Economics of Place

Understanding cultural, social, institutional, and financial capital as interconnected drivers of urban development.

04

The Future of Cultural Ownership

How communities, entrepreneurs, and investors can build cultural institutions while preserving ownership and economic participation.

SPEAKING FORMATS

- Keynote presentations
- Fireside conversations
- Moderated panels
- Executive briefings and workshops
- University lectures and research discussions

Culture creates value. Capital shapes places. Ownership determines who benefits.

INQUIRIES
kscott@atelier411.studio

WEBSITE
krystophernasir.com/speaking

AVAILABILITY
Based in Columbus, Ohio. National and international.